Description We have been mapping to VegX 1.5.1 (the latest stable version) but a release candidate VegX 1.5.2 is also available. VegX 1.5.2 differs in a few fields that we would like to use, such as the relatedItem/relatedIndividual field of individualOrganismObservation that we're planning to use to tie stems to their parent organisms. Do we want to switch to VegX 1.5.2, before further modifying the VegX mappings? Does it matter whether we map to a stable version or a development version?

Brad: Yes! Latest version please, 1.5.2. It's about to get a lot less stable in any case, as we make more changes.

In fact, we will switch to 1.5.3, which is now available
